IH-Web

Remote Result Management

Transfusion laboratories working around the clock, can use the IH-Web software module to connect generalists and decision-makers to the same IH-Com database regardless of their location. This CE-marked, FDA-approved solution allows for hospital intranet connection and provides a bidirectional interface for secure interactivity.

Fully Integrated with IH-Com

- IH-Web is an additional software module for IH-Com which enables requests and results to be remotely managed via the intranet using your standard web browser.
- IH-Web is fully integrated with IH-Com; no additional software is required on your computer.

Traceability

- Complete transfusion request and result management. Result images generated by Bio-Rad instrumentation are clearly presented in IH-Web and the full search functionality of IH-Com is exploited.

Ease of Use

- By implementing the same logic steps and familiar interface of IH-Com.

Productivity

- Remote connection can be established anytime, anywhere. IH-Web allows the same result verification steps to be performed as in IH-Com, irrespective of your relative location.

Safety

- Request supplementary tests or repeats.
- Add comments and edit results.
- IH-Web provides greater peace of mind through improved patient safety.
